OR

Read the following passage and make a precis by providing a suitable title.

A proper consideration of the value of time will inspire the habit of punctuality. Punctuality is the politeness of kings, the duty of gentlemen and necessity of men of business. Nothing begets confidence in a man sooner than the practice of this virtue and nothing shakes confidence sooner than the want of it. He who holds to his appointment, and does not keep you waiting for him, shows that he has regard for your time and his own. Thus punctuality is one of the ways in which we show our personal respect for those whom we are called upon to meet in the business of life. When Washington's Secretary excused himself for attending the office late and laid blame on his watch, his master quietly said, "Then you must have another watch, or I another secretary".

- a) What will a proper consideration of the value of time inspire?
- b) What is punctuality?
- c) Who has regard for your time as well as his own?
- d) Why did Washington's Secretary have to excuse himself?

■ Read the lines and answer the given questions:

Life ! I know not what thou art,
 But know that thou and I must part;
 And when, or how, or where we met
 I own to me's a secret yet.
 Life! we've been long together
 Through pleasant and through cloudy weather;
 'Tis hard to part when friends are dear -
 Perhaps 'twill cost a sigh, a tear;
 Then steal away, give little warning,
 Choose thine own time;
 Say not good - night - but in some brighter clime.
 Bid me good morning.

- 18) What is a 'secret' to the poet?
- 19) To whom is the poem addressed?
