Pencil Preaches

Pencil seems to be little but teaches SIX great lessons of life. Surprising? See how? (i) The pencil suffers a little when we use a sharpener but afterwards, it is much sharper. So, let's learn to bear certain pains and sorrows because they will make us better persons. (ii) It allows us to use an eraser to rub out mistakes. This means correcting something we did is not necessarily a bad thing; it helps us to keep on the right path. (iii) What really matters in it is not its wooden exterior, but the graphite inside. So, let's always pay attention to what is happening inside us. (iv) It always leaves a mark. In just the same way, everything we do in life will leave a mark. So, let's try to be conscious of that in every action of ours. (v) It gets shorter and shorter with use. So does life. Let's make the most of it while it lasts. (vi) It writes till the end. Let's try to be useful and productive till the end.

- i. What is the result of bearing pains and sorrows?

The brain has three main divisions, each having its own particular function. The cerebrum is the largest and best developed section of the brain. It is made up of many areas containing cells that control various parts of the body. Some areas perform the function of directing muscular activity. They allow the head to be turned, for example, other areas are responsible for sight, hearing and speech. The cerebrum is also the centre of intelligence and it enables human beings to reason and remember. The cerebellum is a small section of the brain below the cerebrum its function is to coordinate the movement of limbs and also to control balance. The medulla oblongata is an enlarged area that connects the brain to the spinal cord. It serves to regulate the activities of the internal organs. It controls the beating of the heart and regulates all involuntary muscles. The parts of the brain are highly specialized. Together they make up the complex organ that controls the nervous system.
